Bull Valley Software Announces Validation of the ContentLOK™ Content & Compliance Management to BMC Software Service Desk Platforms (BMC ITSM & BMC Service Desk Express)

Woodstock, Illinois, February 08, 2007- Bull Valley Software, a leading provider of Enterprise Content Management (ECM) business solutions announced today that validation testing of ContentLOK with multiple BMC Software products has been completed, to address regulatory, compliance and auditing issues for businesses. The integration of Bull Valley's ContentLOK with BMC Remedy IT Service Management (ITSM) and BMC Service Desk Express solutions allows business content and communication to be easily captured, stored and made available to improve productivity and workflow collaboration, and to meet growing requirements mandated by governance, compliance and corporate best-practice initiatives. By integrating with both service desk platforms, Bull Valley Software is aligned with BMC Software, the industry leading service desk provider, to offer an extensive array of features and functions to organizations whose needs may vary based on vertical, department, scalability, or interoperability requirements; or may be driven by a desire to improve the management of corporate content, communications, and workflows that drive business.

By integrating with BMC Software's service desk platforms, with their incident and problem management capabilities, ContentLOK allows for automated content/communication compliance capabilities, helping customers lower support costs, increase IT service productivity and communication, and provide assurance that new requirements (from ITIL , SOX, etc.) are being met.

"Bull Valley Software provides content management functions across multiple BMC platforms that address the growing number of regulatory compliance issues," said Fred Johannessen, vice president, Technology Alliance and MarketZone at BMC Software "We're very pleased to have ContentLOK integration to the BMC service desk offerings to help customers increase their productivity and collaboration, as well as adapt to new industry requirements and governance."

"As BMC Software addresses the growing needs of Business Service Management, there is a need for scalable and flexible integrations that can be easily incorporated to business' growing need for secure and easily deployed tools." said S.D. DeSerto, CEO of Bull Valley Software. "BMC's service desk solutions are recognized industry-wide as leading the market and we are pleased to be aligned with them to provide a scaleable tool that can enable businesses to grow."
